paseo tiles – space for a thousand possibilities

The floor for all occasions

paseo tiles are ideally suited for terraces, garden paths, balconies and wellness areas. But paseo floor tiles are also perfect for fair booths and for temporary structures such as beach bars. As a high-quality alternative to wood, paseo floor tiles offer an attractive look as well as economic advantages: they are particularly easy to clean, low-maintenance and therefore sustainable.

Laying paseo tiles is child's play paseo tiles are perfect for do-it-yourselfers. Dovetail joints make laying the tiles as easy as can be. No force is required and no screws or tools, either.

A low height of just 20 mm allows the tiles to be used in many areas – while still offering a high load capacity. No supporting structure is required; a level and closed surface which is sufficiently drained is enough.

Attractive, natural look paseo tiles offer numerous design options. The premium wood look is available in the two natural colours of “marrone” and “terracotta”. The slip-resistant surface comes in two designs: “fino” for fine grooves and paseo “largo” for wider ones. The tiles can be laid uniformly or in patterns by alternating the groove directions. In addition, wonderful effects can be achieved by combining “fino” and “largo”.

paseo tiles: a choice that lasts paseo tiles combine the best properties of wood and plastic. The wood-polymer material does not warp or crack and has no knots. It is weather-resistant and resistant to cold, acid rain, saltwater and chlorinated water. Even mould and insects don't stand a chance against paseo tiles.

Great size, practical packaging

With a coverage area of 31.6 cm x 31.6 cm, paseo tiles not only come in a handy size, they also look great. The 10-piece packages contain exactly one square metre of paseo floor tiles. No need to strain your brain when ordering the required quantity. A clean edge termination can be created by cutting off the dovetail joint.
